AFTER DINNER.

Persons who suffer from Indigestion can arrest the progress of that painful malady by the use of an after-dinner pill, so composed that it will give tone to the stomach, prevent heartburn, rouse the liver to healthful action, invigorate the kidneys, and thus, through the activity of these organs, promote the natural movement of the stomach and bowels. AYER'S PILLS are so compounded that their action, though mild, effectually produces the above results. They also, in curing Constipation, remove the cause of Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, and many other serious ailments.

AYER'S PILLS

contain no mineral nor poisonous substance, and do not gripe unless the bowels are irritated, and even then their influence is healing. To continue their effect in constipated or chronic cases, they need only be taken in diminishing instead of increasing doses. For seamen, and inhabitants or travelers in sparsely settled countries where physicians are not at hand, they are of inestimable value. There is hardly a sickness they will not alleviate, and in most cases cure, if taken promptly. To young girls just entering upon womanhood, and to women whose period of maternity is drawing to a close, Ayer's Pills, in moderate doses, merely sufficient to ensure regular action of the bowels, will be found of

NORWEGIAN NAMES.

A Custom Likely to Make Infinite Trouble for Genealogists.

Here at Laerdal a mystery has been unraveled. While waiting yesterday for a primitive shoemaker to sew up a rent, I saw that he wanted to talk. I seized the opportunity to make him tell his grandfather's name, his father's, his own, his son's, his grandson's and, in the event, the possible names of his "sonssonsson." I have been driven furious in trying to discover relationships. Grave-yards, even family graveyards, have given no clew. Now I have it! Suppose a man's name is "Frithjem." That means he owns a house and farm, the name of which is Frithjem. Bear in mind, the feudal system doesn't exist in Norway, as in Sweden and in a measure all over Europe. In fact, the last trace of rank and prerogative of that kind was abolished in 1821. Land is not rented to the many by the few. Each man owns his own land in this thoroughly democratic country; or, rather, more strictly speaking, the land possesses that man for the time and the farm gives him his name, say Frithjem. Now the man's individual name is Ole. His child is christened Olaf, say. The rest of the child's name is, not Frithjem, but "Ole's son:" the whole name is Olaf Oleson. The son of this child, if christened Nil, will have for a whole name Nil Olafson. The "s" or the possessive genitive is sometimes retained, making the possible name of the latter's son, Ole Nilsson. In this swinging back and forth of Ole Nilsson and Nil Oleson among the apparently unconnected sons and grandsons who have no name in common, the name Frithjem is lost sight of except as the name of the farm and of the old man. When he dies, the son who keeps the farm, generally the eldest, receives the name—the only inheritable title in the land. The other children go off to America nowadays, or perhaps a son builds a house on some inaccessible ledge, and having first named the farm, receives from it a family name. If he doesn't found a colony he never has any "other name." Frightful work for genealogists! The daughters signify their relationship by putting datter on the end of their father's first name, as Johanna Nilsdatter. Of course, in the cosmopolitan cities, the modern European fash on has to a great extent supplanted the older; but the foregoing dissertation explains the fact that about everybody's name ends in son or sen, Anglicized. The letter is neither "o" nor "e," but a distinct letter in the Norwegian alphabet. This also helps explain the abundance of names which a community of one hundred inhabitants may have, according as the speaker calls the place by the name of the church, of the prominent feature in the landscape, or of the farm which after his notion is the most important in the place.—Cor. Zion's Herald.

TWO GREAT INVENTIONS.

The Steam Valve and Power Loom From the Headwork and Handicraft of Boys.

The invention of the valve motion to a steam engine was made by a mere boy. Newcomen's engine was in a very incomplete condition, from the fact that there was no way to open or close the valves except by means of levers operated by hand. He set up a large engine at one of the mines, and a boy (Humphrey Potter) was hired to work these valve levers. Although this is not hard work, yet it required his constant attention. As he was working the levers he saw that parts of the engine moved in the right direction, and at the same time he had to open and close the valves.

He procured a strong cord, and made one end fast to the proper part of the engine, and the other end to the valve lever, and the boy had the satisfaction of seeing the engine move with perfect regularity of motion. A short time after the foreman came around, and saw the boy playing marbles at the door. Looking at the engine, he saw the ingenuity of the boy, and also the advantage of his invention. The idea suggested by the boy's inventive genius was put in a practical form and made the steam engine an automatic working machine.

The power-loom is the invention of a farmer's boy, who had never seen or heard of such a thing. He whittled one out with his jack knife, and after he had it all done, with great enthusiasm he showed it to his father, who at once kicked it to pieces, saying that he would have no boy about him that would spend his time on such foolish things. The boy was sent to a blacksmith to learn a trade, and his master took a lively interest in him. He made a loom of what was left of the one his father had broken up, and showed it to his master. The blacksmith saw that he had no common boy as an apprentice, and that the invention was a valuable one. He had a loom constructed under the supervision of the boy. It worked to their perfect satisfaction, and the blacksmith furnished the means to manufacture the looms, and the boy received half the profits.

In about a year the blacksmith wrote to the boy's father that he should bring home with him a wealthy gentleman who was the inventor of the celebrated power loom. You may be able to judge of the astonishment at the old home when his son was presented to him as the inventor, who told him that the loom was the same as the model that he had kicked to pieces but a year before.

Our Patent Office shows many ingenious and useful inventions made by boys.—Boston Budget.

"Why, then this picture on your breast representing an explosion in a mine, in which you lost your sight?" "Please your Honor, because to represent apoplexy painting is powerless."—Le Francais.

—"Tommy, did you hear your mother call you?" "Course I did." "Then why don't you go to her at once?" "Well, you see, she's nervous, and if I shock her awful if I should go too sudden."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

CARPETS AND RUGS.

Fine Grades of Each Which Are Manufactured in America.

"An increased demand for the luxuries of life indicates the advancement of a community in art, taste and refinement," said an experienced salesman in the carpet and rug department of a great wholesale house to a reporter for the Daily News. "Take carpets and rugs alone, for instance. Ten years ago the stocks of the leading jobbing houses in Chicago would not average more than two hundred or two hundred and fifty pieces each. Now they carry from five hundred to seven hundred pieces each of body Brussels and the higher grades. The heaviest trade is in extra super-ingrain, and tapestry Brussels comes next. Are the finer grades imported? Well, I should say not. We make better carpets in America than are made anywhere else in the world, and the same may be said of rugs. Of course you can not include among the latter the rare India and Persian imported rugs. I have seen in a well-known house in New York small rugs six by two feet in size worth fifty and sixty dollars, while larger India rugs fifty and one hundred years old, on which whole families have worked for a year or two, and which look like the rare old drapery taken from some picture, are worth fifteen to eighteen hundred dollars. There is not much competition in rugs. The leading industries in this country are confined to the manufacture of tapestry Brussels, body Brussels, and Smyrna rugs, while there is a large manufacture and importation of velvets, moquettes, and punjaubs. A firm in Halifax, N. S., are the largest manufacturers in the world of velvets and Brussels. The Smyrna and moquette rugs are the most costly. The Smyrnas are alike on both sides and run to high colors, while most of the others are in patterns of flowers, animals, and an infinite variety of designs.

"Some time ago the favorite design in Brussels and velvet rugs was the 'Jumbo' pattern, while the figures of horses, dogs and stags were placed in many. The Smyrna rug is the most difficult to make and the costliest; the body Brussels comes next, while the tapestry Brussels is much cheaper. The process of manufacture is difficult to explain. It would require a trip through the manufactories to become acquainted with the details. The tapestry Brussels is printed first and then woven into mats and rugs. The body Brussels patterns are formed on Jacquard looms and cards. The leaves and flowers are formed and cut by machinery on the cards, by the same process employed in making carpets. Velvets, moquettes and punjaubs are made on power looms, the same as velvet carpets. They are woven out of worsted, and the pile is cut or sheared down. In Smyrna and imitations of imported rugs, the material is woven in colors, and then cut into strips and woven in stripes or broad ground-figures on hand looms. They are entirely alike on both sides, and are an extremely favorite rug. They vary in size from one foot square to twelve or fifteen feet, with borders. Some of the looms in which these rugs are woven are eighteen feet wide. There are several varieties of cheap and inferior rugs made by individuals, but they do not come into contact or competition with the regular trade. They are made on much the same plan as the old-fashioned rag carpet. It requires especial talent and skill to manufacture the different varieties of rugs. For instance, the body Brussels and ingrain carpets are very nearly alike in process of manufacture, but the maker of these is not capable of making tapestries, in which the pattern is stamped first. By the way, the weavers of ingrain two-ply carpets in Philadelphia have been on a strike for twenty-one weeks, and this variety of carpets is much higher in the market in consequence."—Chicago News.

INN CONTRASTS.

The Difference Between an American and English Hotel.

When you go into an American hotel, you know, a boy takes your baggage at the door, the clerk embraces you at the counter, brushes whisk, and attendants dance around you till it seems as if the whole establishment had been eagerly expecting you for a week.

Now when you go into an English hotel it is different.

You tug and twist and shoulder-heave at the door awhile, until at last you worry it open and drag yourself and your baggage in by painful degrees against the protest of an inhospitable spring that has been cunningly contrived somewhere to keep you out. Then you set down your things in a narrow, private sort of an entry, with the feeling of a burglar awaiting an arrest, and wipe off your forehead and look over the ground. There are no signs, no bells, no anything. You stamp and cough and rattle around for a while, and by-and-by the commotion wakes up somebody in the rear of the house, who opens the door and peers through. This is your opportunity. If you are affable, and persistent, and plausible, and state your case with respectful urgency, this person (usually a female), after some preliminary examination, will disappear, and come back in time with another and higher functionary (also a female), who examines you in the higher branches, and may end, under favorable conditions, with your admission.—Cor. Detroit Free Press.

—"Horsey" toilets seem becoming fashionable in Paris. The other day a well-known actress appeared in a crimson velvet bonnet representing a saddle, tied under her chin by strings tipped with steel stirrups. With this the lady wore a cherry-colored jockey's jacket, fastened about the waist by a horseshoe. Her shirt was embroidered with horse shoes, while to complete the costume her hair was dressed over a silver bit so as to fall down her back like a horse's tail.

FIFTH AVENUE AFLOAT.

An Aristocratic Swimming School—Belles as Bathers—Children in the Water.

[New York Sun.]

A man of compact physique and healthy color, who was dressed in a bathing suit, leaned against the rail of a small swimming bath up town and carelessly knotted a bit of rope as he talked of his bathers.

"I've been instructor of the better elements of New York society for many years," he said, "and I may say that I've been satisfactory."

"You do not deal with the humbler elements then?"

"I never touch anything that is not of the upper crust," said the instructor, composedly. The tone is everything. I affect the upper tone. This is partly because I like it, as it is always pleasant to meet ladies and gentlemen than parvenus and up-starts, and partly because I find that it pays to be exclusive. If you let people know that you cater to the better elements they will patronize you."

The place is near the Fifth avenue, in one of the most aristocratic parts of New York. A liveried attendant opens the door, and a number of English and French illustrated newspapers lie about. No American papers are in sight. This would indicate that the "better element" does not affect native journals. The bath itself was a good-sized pool railed in handsomely and nearly seven feet deep in spots, with spring boards, swinging rings, swimming gear, and contrivances for frolicsome athletic, and daring swimmers overhung various parts of the pool, while commodious dressing-rooms were ranged around the four sides. A small platform overhung the deep end of the bath. It was at least ten feet above the water, and was designed for aerial diving.

The professor was a man of great gravity. He was well-constrained and thoughtful, but his composure never gave the impression of suilenness or ill humor. His manner was that of a student, and he seemed rather proud of the discernment which had led him to establish a swimming bath in such a neighborhood.

"Have you many pupils of the fair sex?" the professor was asked in the course of conversation.

"Oh, yes, a very considerable number. Their hours are from 9 in the morning till 4 p. m., and they are the most delightful of bathers."

"What sort of costumes do they wear."

"The majority of the ladies use their seaside costumes, but quite a number of expert swimmers wear the single garment—that is, without skirt or tunic, you know, and with the arms and neck bare. No men are admitted here during ladies hours; even the swimming instructors are women, and so the ladies are perfectly safe from observation.

"It would surprise you to see some of our expert swimmers. We have a dozen young women who take headers from the platform up there, and we have only one man who attempts it. A ten-foot dive is not to be sneezed at, you know. Well, the ladies spring from it head first with the fearlessness and grace of birds. It is usually the case with women that when they make up their minds to do a thing, they go it for all they are worth. One of my patrons is as pretty in the water as she is in the drawing-room. She is a great society woman, and her name appears constantly in the papers. Her face is as delicate as a cameo, and she has a soft little voice, like a nun. The first time she came here I supposed she'd be timid, and expected to send an attendant in with her. While I was thinking of it, she came pattering down the walk, ran out, gave a big jump on the end of the springboard, and took a dive that I never saw beaten in my life. Then she came up, went hand over hand to the rail, and ran up the steps to that platform up there. Over she went like a swallow. She comes here regularly, and she is the queen."

"Do any children come here?"

"Any? Well, rather. The fact is, we have more children than adults, and there are a good many of them extremely clever. We have some as young as 4 years. Of course they have to be bathed, but we have taught many a 10-year-old to swim. About the most remarkable case I ever had though, was that of a lady 65 years old who came here to learn swimming. That's a pretty good age to begin at, you know, but she was determined, and we went to work regularly. In three months she had learned thoroughly, and now if she should fall overboard she would be as well able to take care of herself as you would."

Then he bowed with grave respect and went to attend to the needs of a group of young men who came noisily into the bath.

A Barcelona Rabbit Shoot.

[Cor. New York Telegram.]

This is a strange Sunday sight. Hung by the legs from a string, head downwards, about 120 yards from the shooters, is a live rabbit, while about twenty yards on either side are two roosters suspended in the same position, and, last of all, there is a white rabbit, which is tied by the leg, and takes as much exercise as a tether ten feet long and a hail of bullets will warrant. Here, in a reserved space some 150 feet from their quarry, sit a varying number of men whose anxiety it is to exterminate the pendant victims, which eventually succumb, one by one, and are victoriously carried away by the lucky marksman. A hit is always visible by the kicks given by the unfortunate animal.

Smoke Pictures.

[Philadelphia Record.]

Smoke pictures are a recent artistic fancy. A piece of glazed card-board is smoked over a candle, after which the half tones are wiped out with a brush. The high lights are taken out with a pointed bit of wood. The results are often very pleasing.

Lemon Consumption.

The United States consume more lemons in a year than all other countries combined. Russia comes next. The custom of Russians have of drinking tea with a slice of lemon in it accounts for the large consumption there.

FRUIT GROWERS' CONVENTION.

At the last meeting of the State Horticultural Society it was resolved to call a general convention of the fruit-growers to consider the shipment and sale of California fruit in the States east of the Rocky Mountains and take effective action in the matter. The convention will meet on Thursday, September 24th, at 10 A. M. in the Chamber of Commerce, San Francisco, and a general invitation is extended to all engaged in horticulture to attend and take part in the proceedings.

The question of disposing of our future fruit production is a matter of vital importance to all those engaged in fruit raising, and therefore discussions which may tend to better the condition of our orchardists should be encouraged in every manner possible. In view of the fact that fruit in the Sonoma Valley is allowed to lie on the ground and rot this season because of the low prices prevailing and the cost of shipment, it behooves her fruit-raisers to be up and doing. By taking an interest in and attending the convention above mentioned, much valuable information may be gained. One thing is certain, measures will have to be adopted by those interested in fruit culture to establish a market for their products else they will be compelled to root up their orchards and engage in some other kind of farming.

THE Mormons are making themselves more odious now than ever. Their latest exploit took place in Salt Lake City on Sunday last, and consisted in hurling Chinese stinkpots into the houses of several Gentiles in that city. This last outrage is but one of thousands that have been perpetrated by the blind followers of the teachings of the apostles of the Mormon church. These religious fanatics have been guilty of every crime known to the decalogue, and in many cases their criminal acts are upheld and the perpetrators shielded by the elders of the Mormon church. It is high time the Government was casting aside the half measures employed for so long a time to put a stop to these outrages and introduce in their place a policy at once so vigorous and strong that the Mormons will either have to comply with the laws of the United States or else emigrate to some other country.

THE Admission Day eight-page edition of the "Santa Rosa Democrat," is worthy of more than passing notice It is a publication which eclipses anything of the kind ever issued from a newspaper office in the interior of the State, and every resident of Sonoma county should feel proud to know that by this effort of the publishers of the "Democrat," that their county is not behind in enterprising journalism. We congratulate our contemporary on the neat, typographical appearance of the edition in question and venture to say that it contains in condensed form more valuable information relative to pioneer history in California than anything yet issued from the press.

THE note of Senor Elduayen, the Spanish Foreign Minister, to Prince Bismarck, claims Spanish sovereignty over the Caroline Islands on the grounds of discovery, exploration, missionary work, protection, recognition by the natives, and the existence of Spanish trading posts.

FROM our exchanges we learn the prices being paid for Zinfandels and other first-class foreign varieties of grapes to be as follows in the towns mentioned below: Napa, $22 to $28; St. Helena, $20 to $25; San Jose, $25 to $27.

JOHN S. HAGER has been appointed by the President, Collector of Customs for the district of San Francisco.

AN advance of two cents per pound in sugars of all grades took place last Tuesday.

THE BAMBOO.

The "Chronicle," in an artitle under the above caption, falls into error when it says there remains the question of the acclimatization of the bamboo in California. That this beautiful and valuable tree can and will flourish in this State has been demonstrated, without a doubt, in the Sonoma Valley. On Gen. M. G. Vallejo's place the "feathery bamboo" has been flourishing for years in all its native luxuriance. The experiment of growing the bamboo has not alone been confined to the Vallejo place, as numbers of these trees can also be seen on the Rixford and other farms in this valley.

The varieties of the bamboo are said to number 75 in the Island of Formosa alone, ranging from the tiny dwarf that attains a maximum height of four or five feet and is used as a broom in its natural state, to the giant of the forest, which frequently reaches up into the sky 75 or 100 feet.

The variety found growing in the valley of Yangtse, is probably the best adapted of all the bamboos to the climate of California. It usually attains a height of say thirty feet, with a diameter at the base of about three inches. The climate of the Sonoma Valley is somewhat similar to that of the Yangtse, and although the summers are generally more moist in the latter, it is warmer here in the winter season, which is a point in our favor and offsets the lack of moisture in the summer months.

Doubtless the best plan of importing the bamboo is by means of rootlets or cuttings packed in their native soil and kept moist. These should be boxed and shipped in the winter months and immediately upon their arrival, should be planted in soil which holds its moisture during the entire summer or can be irrigated. A clump of the Yangtse variety of the bamboo acts as an excellent wind-brake, is highly ornamental, and affords a fine shade and the matured wood is useful in numberless ways.

THE REMEDY.

ED. SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE; I take the following extract from a letter written by the Chief Viticultural Officer of the State, which commends itself practically to the consideration of the wine-growers of this valley. The disappointments and difficulties that have this year presented themselves to the fruit growers of the State in the prevalant low prices of fruit are facts that are liable to happen at any time to all industries, especially such as are but in their crude state, and before which vast possibilities and improvements present themselves in many ways. From the causes which are popularly held as responsible for these reverses, the wine-grower may make himself singularly exempt by the eminent facilities which he holds within his own power to overcome them with. The cause for the low price of grapes in this valley is a needless annoyance and can be quickly remedied by the growers themselves as pointed out in this letter. I quote:

"The difficulty with your correspondent's friends is the same that was foretold during the past two years at our conventions, viz., growers of wine grapes should be their own wine-makers. When grapes are cheap for want of wine-making facilities is a good time to begin to learn the art of actual practice.

Those who expect to make wine next year should take plenty of time during this vintage to visit and watch the work of fermentation going on. They should not imagine that good wine cannot be made except in a grand and costly establishment. The first lessons should be taken where small quantities of good wine are made. The beginner is apt to be dismayed if he visits a large winery, where much capital is employed. What is now needed in the State is a great many small, simply and carefully managed wineries, where the proprietor controls not only the fermentation but the picking of his own grapes. When this cannot be done, the grapes must avoid long distances in transportation. Possibly the new processes for condensing grape juice may succeed in avoiding the necessity of many wineries, but it is too early yet to pass judgment on them. The experimental efforts in this direction are being made and certain results may be announced in time for the next vintage, but of this there is yet some doubt.

I submit the above to the careful consideration of your readers and invite discussion from some of our growers as to the practicability of the points therein made. A. D.

SONOMA, Sept. 17, 1885.

A Hen Convention.

Mr. J. M. McCann of Bridgeport, W. Va., a contributor to poultry journals of the United States and Canada, and a large chicken raiser, says that if St. Jacobs Oil is mixed with dough and fed to poultry suffering from chicken cholera, and all that are able to swallow will be restored to health, and if saturated pills are forced down the throats of those that cannot swallow they will flap their wings and crow in your face.

GLOVERDALE HAPPENINGS.

[Pacific Sentinel.]

Hon. John Field has been appointed Postmaster for this place. The appointment was made Thursday, and it gives general satisfaction to the friends of Mr. Field and to the majority of Democrats of this place.

Wine-making is in full blast at the Cloverdale winery. They have finished crushing the first crop of Zinfandels and yesterday were working Malvasias. Some of the vineyardists say the second crop of Zinfandels will be as large and in some cases larger than the first crop.

[Reveille.]

Wild pigeons have put in an appearance.

The new Water Company is fully organized by the election of trustees. A contract with Mr. Sink has been completed for the building of the works, to be finished Dec. 1st, 1885. Trustees, M. Menihan, J. C. Holloway, J. H. Barker, J. A. Kleiser and J. E. Chalfant; G. W. Frost, Treasurer; J. A. Kleiser, Secretary.

The heavy timber fires out on the coast are driving the deer further inland, and they are very numerous hereabouts. Farley Abshire killed eight last week out on Dry Creek, and it is a common thing to hear yelping hounds and rapid rifle shots on the outskirts of our town.

SANTA ROSA NEWS.

[Democrat.]

The remains of the late A. Kather were interred at Napa on the 9th inst., under the auspices of the Odd Fellows.

Justice Brown sentenced Charles Martin to serve thirty days for petty larceny, and Lewis Phillips the same for vagrancy the first of the week.

Pat McChristian has left at this office five Gloria Mundi apples which weigh nine pounds and ten ounces. They grew in his orchard in Green Valley. Beat them, who can?

John Feehan while riding one of the mules of the "Miner's Pack Train" on Wednesday, owing to a break in the saddle girth, was precipitated to the ground, breaking his right arm near the wrist and sustaining other severe bruises. He is doing well.

The residence of J. B. Young on Third street was entered on Wednesday night, and a quantity of wearing apparel and a trunk were abstracted. The trunk was found in the creek back of the house on Thursday morning, having been broken open and rumaged, and some articles of minor value taken. The loss is about $20.

Fire in Santa Rosa.

From our Santa Rosa exchanges we learn that a disastrous conflagration broke out in that town last Saturday night at 11 o'clock. Nine business houses were completely destroyed, while twelve others were more or less damaged. The fire was discovered in Jacobs' tailor shop on Fourth street, and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. The losses are estimated at $20,000, partly covered by insurance. The heaviest losers are: G. N. Savage, $2,500; M. Jacobs, $1,000; J. R. Steiner, $500; M. Creagh, $500; Fred. Hesse, $1,500; McBreen Bros., $2,500; Von Grofen, $300; A. P. Overton, $7,000; "Sonoma Democrat," $1,000.

Arthur Hughes, for a number of years General Manager of the Sonoma Valley and San Francisco and North Pacific Railroads, died in San Francisco on Monday, after a prolonged illness. Deceased was a native of Ireland and 57 years of age.

The stock ranges surrounding the Sonoma Valley are perfectly destitute of feed, owing to the dessicating north winds that prevailed last spring and dried up the grass. Many who own stock ranches in the hills to the north and south of town have been compelled to pasture their stock in the valley this season.

"Resolved, That the statesman is more beneficial to the civilized world than is the poet," will be the question to be debated upon at Clay Literary Society next Monday evening. The affirmative side will be handled by B. F. Campbell and the negative by L. Breitenbach. In addition to the debate there will be an interesting programme presented, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and readings.

Thigh Bone Broken.

The two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Nordwell of San Francisco, who were visiting relatives on the old Harvey place, strayed off from the house on Saturday last and going into a field where there was a number of horses, was kicked by a vicious colt. The right thigh bone of the child was broken in a dreadful manner. The screams of the little one attracted its mother's attention who went to its rescue. The sufferer was carried into the house and a messenger at once dispatched for Dr. Davis, who responded to the summons and set the broken limb. On the following Tuesday morning the child was removed to its parent's home in the city, and at last accounts was doing well.

Special Meeting of City Trustees.

The Board of City Trustees met in special session at the City Pavilion last Monday, to make the tax levy for the present fiscal year. Present—Trustees Haraszthy, Wegner, McHarvey and Clerk Corbaly.

On motion of Trustee McHarvey, seconded by Trustee Wegner, the tax rate was placed at 35 cents on each $100 of valuation.

Trustee Wegner then made a motion, which was seconded by Trustee McHarvey, that every person who maintains a crossing over a sidewalk, must attach an apron from the top of the curb plank down the street to a distance of four feet, constructed of 4x4 inch beams and covered with 2-inch planks, and shall keep the same in good repair, and no person shall fill up any gravel for sloping the crossing nearer than four feet of the curb plank. Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

A Complete Surprise.

Last Tuesday evening a farewell surprise party was tendered to Miss Ella Dey at her home, by the members of the Ivy Leaf Club. This party was a complete surprise both to the young lady and her mother. The evening's entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental music, dancing and games, which were highly enjoyed by the many participants. At eleven o'clock the guests were invited to the dining-room, where a collation awaited them, and after ample justice had been done dancing was resumed and kept up until a late hour. The officers of the I. L. C., on behalf of the members, extended their heartfelt thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Dey, (not forgetting their amiable daughter) for the many good times they had enjoyed at Orange Lawn, and assured them that although they may be lost to their sight, they and their kindness would never be forgotten by the I. L. C. Among those present were: Misses Ella Dey, Josie Dunn, Rosa Wilson, Lillie Dunn, Minnie Rufus, Lou. Douglas, Louisa Rufus, Gracie Churchill, Julia Douglas, Mrs. Dey and Mrs. B. F. Campbell. Messrs. B. F. Campbell, R. J. Dunn, H. J. Wilson, Leland Shaw, Albert Dunn, Ephie Cutter, Chas. Douglas, Bory Spencer, J. Martin and Chas Dunn.

PETALUMA AFFAIRS.

[Courier.]

The Petaluma Packing Company closed for the season last Tuesday. This has been its most successful run, and it has expended for fruit and labor about $140,000 solid cash. Most of the hands employed were women and children.

Judge Cavanaugh, our City Recorder, and Marshal Blume last Monday put our new chain gang ordinance into practical effect. Three law violators, all decked out with the city's jewelry, were put out to work and attracted much attention. The tramps will hereafter give Petaluma a wide berth.

Crawford's Petaluma Fruit Dryer started up last Tuesday with fifteen hands. He expects soon to employ thirty hands. The company is paying for apples $5 per ton, pears twenty cents per box, and peaches one cent per pound. This looks like a low price, but Mr. Crawford informs us that it is all he can pay with safety. Last year by paying higher prices he lost money and still has about thirty tons of dried fruit of that year on hand. This year he knows just what he can get for dried fruit right out of the dryer and pays his patrons accordingly.

J. H. Ranard of this city showed us last Wednesday some of the largest onions we have ever seen. There were two varieties, the Silver King, a white onion, measuring 19 inches in circumference, a little over 2¼ pounds in weight, and the Pompeii, a red onion, over 18 inches around and weighing 2¼ pounds. Mr. Ranard secured the seed from the U. S. Patent Office this spring and had just enough plants to set out a piece of ground 6x11 feet, from which he has just gathered over 150 pounds of as fine onions as we ever saw, and the best of it was they were all raised from the seed this season and were fully matured.

[Argus.]

We are informed that a young German of this city drew a $1,200 prize in the recent drawing of the Louisiana lottery.

Joseph Steiger met with a painful accident yesterday morning while assisting his mother in canning tomatoes. He dropped a can and splashed his face with hot water.

Powell Jessen of Karey's Shoe Store, was considerably hurt on Sunday last, by being thrown out of a cart. His companion, Jack Holmes, received only some slight injuries on his face. The horse took fright at some children playing in the street.

M. O'Riley, one of the most quiet and respectable gentlemen in Petaluma, was set upon by two roughs and beaten last Saturday for simply protesting against their kicking his dog. These fellows have since been working on the streets in the chain gang and they are not now so beligerent.

It has gone into a saying of men who come to town and leave their horses hitched to the fence, that they are feeding them "stake-oats." This was the kind of provender Marshal Blume gave the chain gang yesterday when they rebelled and refused to work. He chained them up to the hitching rack at the foot of Main street. Some said that it was an outrage, but we noticed that those who talked thus were mainly those best to be left off of the juries when criminals are on trial.

An Enjoyable Party.

On Friday evening of last week an enjoyable party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dunn in honor of their daughter, Miss Lillie, who had attained the age of "saucy seventeen." Singing, games and dancing were indulged in by all present. At midnight a bountiful repast was served to the guests, after which the games, etc., were resumed until a late hour. It is useless to say that all enjoyed themselves, for whoever enters the door of Mr. and Mrs. D. know that nothing but a pleasant time is to be had, as they do all in their power to make it pleasant for their guests and, what is more, they always succeed in doing so. Those that go there once are glad to go again. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, Misses Lillie Dunn, Rosa Wilson, Annie Pemberton, Minna Rufus, Ella Dey, Josie Dunn, Susie Shaw, Gabriella Aguillion, Annie Dunn, Arvilla Cheney, Cora Perkins and Rosie Levy. Messrs. Chas. Dunn, Jas. Wilson, Ephie Cutter, Robert Dunn, Frank Patton, Shattuck Spencer, Albert Dunn, Leland Shaw, Lathrop Dunn, Wm. Wilson, Eddie Eweil, W. Dunn and H. Dunn.

Robbery on Russian River.

[Santa Rosa Democrat.]

B. O'Donovan brings intelligence of a burglary which was committed on the 9th inst. at the residence of Henry Wall, six miles from Guerneville, on Russian river. At the time no one was at the house. Mrs. Wall was gathering vegetables in her garden about one mile distant. When she returned she found the whole house ransacked, all the trunks, beds, bureaus, etc., having been gone through in search of plunder. The thieves only got away with $35 in cash. The mortgages, notes and private papers had all been opened and left in that shape. Mr. Wall congratulates himself for just having deposited a few days previous the sum of $3,000 from the same place where the robbers took the $35. No clue to the robbers has yet been discovered.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

MONDAY, September 7, 1885.

On motion of Mr. Allen, in the matter of the petition for the erection of a bridge at Lambert's crossing on Dry Creek, it was decided that said petition be placed on file, and that when the levy is made on the first Monday in October next it is the intention of the Board to create a bridge fund, out of which fund the bridges in the opinion of the Board most needed will be built.

The report of Treasurer Tupper was also filed, and is similar to that of Auditor Naughton, and shows the indebtedness of the county to remain as reported last month, a total of $300,050.

R. E. Lewis presented a petition from residents of Guerneville and vicinity, signed by ninety-seven persons, asking for a road to connect Russian River station on the North Pacific Coast railroad with the south end of the Guerneville bridge. Set for hearing for Tuesday, October 6th, at 1 o'clock P. M., and Mr. Lewis was instructed to furnish the requisite bond.

On motion of Mr. Coulter, J. W. Bagley, Road Overseer of Redwood Road District, was instructed to place signs at each end of the Guerneville bridge, notifying all of a $25 fine for riding or driving over faster than a walk.

The Board having examined the reports of the Auditor and Treasurer, and found them to be correct they were accepted and placed on file.

The report of Coroner King was read. He reports four inquests since the last meeting of the Board. Placed on file. Mr. King was allowed $48 on the General Fund.

It transpired that two inquests had been held on the remains of L. G. Odell—one by Coroner King and the other by Justice Morgan, for which bills were presented. Judge King stated that he was summoned to attend two inquests on the same day and that he had telegraphed to Judge Morgan that he would be there that night or the next morning. On arriving at Geyserville he learned that an informal inquest had been held by Justice Morgan, and he held an inquest and placed his report on file. He had not been informed by Justice Morgan that an inquest had been held.

On this explanation, Coroner King was allowed $16.25 additional, and the bill of Justice Morgan rejected.

At 5:15, the Board adjourned until Tuesday at 9 A. M.

TUESDAY, September 8, 1885.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present: Supervisors Ellis, Allen, Coulter and O'Hara.

The report of Benjamin Clark, Road Overseer of Russian River Road District, was accepted and placed on file.

At the afternoon session the following bills were allowed on the Sonoma Road Fund: E. Gillan, $164.50; C. J. Poppe, $1.50; Law & Staley, $4.50; F. Korbel & Bros., $31.50; Wm. Green, $181.08.

The allowances to outside indigents were allowed, amounting to $254.50.

The following reports of Road Overseers were accepted and placed on file: W. J. Cunningham, Bodega; H. A. Russell, Santa Rosa; G. W. Burris, Mendocino; Geo. H. Black, Cloverdale; W. F. Harris, Washington; James Patrick, Knight's Valley.

The following resolution was offered by Supervisor Allen, and was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors to provide for the building of a bridge across Russian River, at or near Geyserville before the expiration of the present year.

On motion of Supervisor Allen, the Board determined to visit Geyserville on Thursday, September 10th, for the purpose of selecting a site for the proposed bridge across Russian River at that point.

The following bills were allowed on the General Fund: N. King, $64.25; Geo. F. Allen, $10.80; S. T. Coulter, $6.30; L. G. Ellis, $13.80; John O'Hara, $8.70; Julio Carrillo, $62.40; W. H. Hassett, $50.00; J. H. Garratt, $65.70.

On the following Road Funds: H. A. Russell, Santa Rosa, $226.80; W. F. Harris, Washington, $117.50; James Patrick, Knight's Valley, $31.50; C. B. Proctor, $10%; G. W. Burris, Mendocino, $117.81; Benj. Clark, Russian River., $224.61½; Wm. J. Cunningham, Bodega, $91.14; George H. Black, Cloverdale, $93.52.

At 3:55, the Board adjourned subject to the call of the Chair.

THURSDAY, Sept. 10, 1885.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, the members being present as on Tuesday.

On motion of Mr. Allen, in the matter of floor between railing and upper section of tower of Court House, C. H. Bumpus was authorized to put in a movable sectional floor, and J. H. Garratt was authorized to paint the tin before said work was laid.

On motion of Mr. O'Hara, Wilfred Page, Ransom Powell and A. P. Overton were added to the committee to wait upon the State Board of Equalization next Monday.

Mr. Coulter introduced the following: In the matter of the proposed road from Rincon hill to intersect a road in Napa county, called the Brown's Valley road, the report of the viewers herein having been approved by the Board, and money ordered to be set apart in the treasury to pay the damages awarded to non-consenting land owners on said proposed road, and it appearing to the Board that Vernon Downs, the non consenting land owner has not accepted the award, I now, therefore, move that the District Attorney be directed to begin suit for the condemnation of the land required in pursuance of the provisions of law in such cases made and provided. Adopted.

At 9:45 A. M. the Board adjourned for the purpose of visiting Geyserville and selecting a site for the proposed bridge across Russian River at or near that place.

FRIDAY, Sept. 11, 1885.

The Board met at 9 A. M. Present: Supervisors Allen, Coulter, O'Hara and Ellis.

Mr. Allen introduced the following in the matter of the location of a bridge over Russian River at Geyserville:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board the proper location for said bridge is in a direct line from the school house on the opposite bank of the river from Geyserville to connect with the lane leading to the depot in said town. It is therefore so ordered.

On motion of Mr. Allen, in the matter of advertising for plans and specifications for bridge over Russian River at Geyserville, it was moved that it be made the order of the Board, and that the Clerk be instructed to advertise in the Sonoma "Democrat" and Petaluma "Courier," newspapers published in Sonoma county, for sealed proposals accompanied with plans, detail specifications and strain sheets for the construction of a bridge over Russian River near Geyserville, at a point of location as selected by the Board of Supervisors. Proposals will be received up to 11 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, October 6th, 1885. So ordered

HEALDSBURG NOTES.

[Enterprise.]

The "cotton insect" has made its appearance in this vicinity.

The bachelors of Healdsburg propose to have a reunion some time next week where wine will flow, and chicken will fly, and no females be present.

J. W. Rose has sent a squash to the fair which weighs 105 pounds. It is not ripe and was not done growing. He has a number of them in the field which are larger than this.

It is a little strange to find our merchants returning to the old method of hauling up their freight from 'Frisco by teams. They claim it is cheaper than to ship by Donohue's line.

E. Dotte fractured some of the bones in his right foot last Friday by falling a tree and not getting out of the way when it fell.

Last Thursday night a bracket lamp at Mr. Grater's hotel exploded, sending a column of burning oil to the floor, but the fire was fortunately extinguished before serious damage was done.

"Sanchez," well known to all the courts of the county, was arrested Tuesday evening by the night watchman. He kicked and fought in such a manner that the services of Marshal Clack were required to assist in taking him to the cooler, as he had a knife and refused to let any one take hold of him. The Marshal gave him a crack or two over the head with his cane, which caused him to change his mind and he walked like a lamb to the altar. Recorder Emerson gave him five days.

Last Saturday the representative grape-growers met with wine-makers in council. About twenty-five of the leading vineyardists represented their side of the question. Owing to the low price paid for grapes this season some action seemed to be necessary to secure the highest amount possible for the product. From $8 to $15 has been paid for different varieties in this section, and in some cases $16 has been realized for shipments to San Francisco. Much discussion ensued, and Mr. James Finlayson proposed to pay them at once $10 a ton for their first quality, and $5 for the second, and to pay them in addition, next February, $1 a ton additional for every cent over ten cents per gallon which the wine will then bring. Mr. Finlayson's proposition was rejected in hope that they could do better. P. J. Ferguson, the chairman, was finally instructed to correspond with leading wine men in San Francisco to ascertain what terms can be made with them, and report to the meeting which then adjourned.

SONOMA, SEPTEMBER 19, 1885.

SUSPECTED.

We dwell together, you and I,
The same in outward seeming,
As when we first in years gone by
Saw Hymen's torches gleaming.
No open jar, no passing strife
Disturbs our level courses,
But yet we feel the springs of life
Are poisoned at their sources.

The courteous smile, the pleasant speech,
When others gather near us,
The lengthening silence each with each,
When none are by to hear us,
The furtive watch, the covert sneer,
Sharp jests—in earnest spoken—
All these have meaning, full and clear,
Though peace may seem unbroken.

Our idols lie amid the dust
In thousand fragments shattered,
And faith and quiet, truth and trust,
For evermore are scattered.
So day by day, unheard, unseen,
Still grows the barrier stronger,
A sombre shadow sweeps between,
And love is ours no longer.

"The little rift within the lute"
Will mar the song's completeness;
"The little speck within the fruit"
Will spoil its bloom and sweetness.
In skies that seem to others bright
We hear the muttering thunder,
The hidden doubt shall leap to light,
And part our lives asunder.

[Household Words.

THE AMATEUR DRAMA.

Mr. and Mrs. Defoe were at home the other evening. There had been a long period of silence, when Mr. Defoe suddenly exclaimed, "By George."

"What is it, dear?" she responded.

"Say, we've got tired playing games, and what do you say to private theatricals? We'll get three or four of the neighbors to join in, and we'll meet at each other's houses and have regular plays."

"That will be splendid," she gasped.

"Hanged if it won't! Twenty dollars will get us all the scenery we want, and each one can furnish his own wardrobe. By gum! we've got the idea now!"

"What sort of a play could we play?" she asked, as he marched up and down with tragic step.

"I have it—aha!" he exclaimed, as he stopped short. "Don't you remember, I started to write a play about five years ago; I'll finish it and we'll bring it out. Now let's see how the characters run. There is the Count Dumdorff, who is in love with Geraldine the Fair. I'll be the Count, of course, as he is the hero. He kills four men, rescues Geraldine from several dangers, and there is a good deal of kissing and love-making, and a happy marriage."

"And I'll be Geraldine."

"You! Oh, you couldn't play that part. She must be young and vivacious. Let's see! I think I'll cast you for Hannah, who keeps a bakery near the park in Paris."

"I'd like to see myself playing Hannah in a bakery, I would!" she defiantly answered. "If you can play Dumdorff I know I can play Geraldine."

"Oh no, you can't, my love. You are a little stiff in the knees, and how you'd look throwing yourself in my arms as the villains pursue. I shall cast that little Widow D—— for Geraldine."

"Then there'll be two Geraldines of us. If you can play Dumdorff with your lame back and catarrh, I know I can play Geraldine with this little lameness in my left knee."

"Now you listen to reason, Mrs. Defoe. You aren't built for a Geraldine; you are too fat, your feet are too large; you haven't got the voice for it."

"And you'd make a pretty Count Dumdorff, you would," she fired back. "You want to get that crook out of your back, that bald head shingled over, your mouth repaired, and your eyes touched up with a paint-brush! I think I see you killing four villains—ha! ha! ha!"

"Woman, do not anger me!" he said, in a deep-toned voice, as he rose up.

"And don't you anger your Geraldine either!"

"Geraldine! Why you don't know a sky border from a flat!"

"Dumdorff! And you don't know a Skye terrier from a big fiddle in the orchestra!"

"'Tis well, we'll have no playing here!"

"Then you needn't! When I play Hannah in a bakery to let you hug and kiss the Widow D——, or any other woman all over the stage, you'll be three or four Count Dumdorffs!"

"I'll burn the play, jealous woman!"

"If you don't I will, vain man!"

Then they sat down, and the disturbed cat went back to her rug and her dreams.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

VENTILATION OF BED-ROOMS.

People who believe that the subject here mentioned is of little consequence, should read the following important facts, and perhaps they will thereafter exercise more care than usual: "If two persons are to occupy a bed room during the night, let them step on the weighing scales as they retire, and then again in the morning, and they will find their actual weight is at least a pound less in the morning. Frequently there will be a loss of two or more pounds, and the average loss throughout the year will be more than one pound; that is, during the night there is a loss of one pound of matter which has gone off from their bodies, partly through the lungs and partly through the pores of the skin. The escaped material is carbonic acid and decayed animal material, or poisonous animal exhalations. This is diffused through the air and in part absorbed by the bed-clothes. If a single ounce of wood or cotton be burned in the room, it will so completely saturate the air with smoke that one can hardly breathe, though there can only be an ounce of foreign matter in the air. If an ounce be burned every half hour during the night, the air will be kept continually saturated with the smoke, unless there be an open door or window for it to escape. Now, the sixteen ounces of smoke thus formed is far less poisonous than the sixteen ounces of exhalations from the lungs and bodies of the two persons who have lost a pound in weight during the eight hours of sleeping; for while the dry smoke is mainly taken into the lungs, the damp odors from the body are absorbed into the lungs and into the pores of the whole body. Need more be said to show the importance of having rooms well ventilated, and of thoroughly airing the sheets, coverlets and mattresses in the morning before packing them in the form of a newly-laid bed?"

The Tragedy of One Man's Life.

[Sacramento Bee.]

Governor Stoneman has granted a pardon to James Dever, who was convicted in San Francisco in November, 1884, of having been implicated in the forging of street warrants, and who was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the House of Correction. Dever's experience has been a most extraordinary one. He had a wife who idolized him, and her appeals to the Governor were of such an extraordinary character, in speaking of the affection she bore her husband, that they were published in the papers. The suspense and disgrace was more than she could bear, and she soon sank into her grave. Two or three of their children followed and Dever, on being set at liberty, will find himself wifeless, childless and alone.

"Yes, I used to be a confirmed beer-drinker, but thanks to the efforts of kind friends, I was able to throw off the awful habit," said the speaker at a Kentucky temperance meeting.

"Don't you kind o' hanker after it now?" asked a dyspeptic in the crowd.

"No sir, not a cent's worth."

"How did you stop?"

"Just took a little whiskey now and then, until the taste for beer was wholly eradicated. It was a glorious triumph, gentlemen."

A Chicago citizen was walking out with his wife and, as is the custom among some of the Western elite, held her tightly clutched by the arm.

"What's that woman been doing?" demanded a stranger. "Stealing?"

"Sir," replied the Chicago man, "this lady is my wife, and—"

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the stranger. "I thought from the manner in which you held her that you were taking her to the station house."

"A LOCAL PREACHER.
"San Francisco, Cal."

"I feel like sounding its praise on the housetops.
"HON. CHAS. A. SUMNER."

WON'T BLISTER.—Caloric Vita Oil takes the place of all pain killing lotions or liniments, poultices or blisters, and while its penetrating, heating, healing and vital action is tenfold more powerful than either, it will not chafe or blister.

Dr. J. Winchester, Columbia, Cal., says: "Have used Vita Oil with the most beneficial results; can endorse without hesitation your claim. As a family remedy for the relief of pain it has no equal in the world. In our household it has become indispensable."

"With a thankful heart I acknowledge the great merit of Dr. Smith's Caloric Vita Oil. I had suffered over 30 years with Bronchitis and was seriously threatened with lung disease. I had tried all remedies and all climates with occasional temporary relief, but no cure. The use of two small bottles made me a sound man.
"A BANK OFFICER."

A prominent druggist in San Francisco:—"We hazard nothing in saying it is the best pain curer and healing remedy ever used or known. It acts quickly, promptly and certainly in relieving pain. Hundreds of sufferers have been relieved by it, to the wonder of thousands of their friends. Its sales have doubled nearly every month."

"It will do the heaviest work of any medicine I ever handled, and quick, too."

"AN OLD VETERAN."

All that is asked for Vita Oil is a single trial. Its great merit for the relief of pain can never be known except by the sufferer who has tried it.

PHYSICAL SPORTS.—If pedestrians, gymnasts, ball-players, oarsmen and those engaged in the rougher pastimes (sports) would prevent soreness, lameness, contraction of the muscles, or other injuries received from the nature of their calling, they should rub freely with Caloric Vita Oil. No athlete ever used it but was ready and willing to sound its praise.

Full directions for using Vita Oil in a variety of diseases accompany each bottle.

Vita Oil is to be had of all leading druggists in San Francisco and generally throughout the Pacific Coast, and by many retail dealers where there is no druggist. It will soon be found indispensable in every family. Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle.

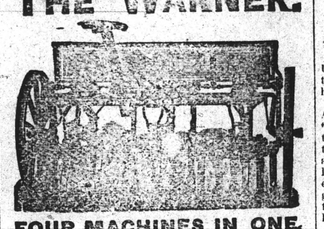
THE WARNER.



FOUR MACHINES IN ONE.

A Broadcast Seeder; A Field Cultivator and Harrow; A Two-Horse Corn Cultivator, and a One-Horse Corn Cultivator.

Each one of these above named implements, combined in the one represented in the illustration, is an admirable implement for the purpose intended, combining more valuable features than any other Sulky Harrow and worth twice as much. Its Superiority also over any of the so-called "Floating, Spring-Tooth Harrows" is so great that no farmer can afford to buy the latter to save a few dollars difference in cost. The WARNER is far more economical than such.

Farmers are respectfully urged to examine the Warner Sulky Spring-Tooth Harrow and Seeder before being induced to purchase any other and inferior substitute for it. ☞ Send for Illustrated Descriptive Circulars and Price List.
